

Cloud Business Comms

Cloud Business Comms provides the best possible service and ultimate simplicity for all your communications needs. Cloud Business Comms focuses on delivering reliable connections to your clients' sites, from only the most trusted providers whilst also offering a new and extensive recurring revenue opportunity for partners.

Communications are the backbone of any business whether it be the main office HQ, satellite offices, or home workers, we understand that being online is critical for all businesses.

Why choose fibre broadband?

A great solution for small business offices or your team working from home.

- Improved information sharing
- Suitable for flexible and highly reliable VoIP solutions
- Simultaneous access to online applications
- Flexibility of packages and speeds to suit your requirements, starting at 40Mbps download
- Traditionally more weather resistant than legacy technologies like ADSL

Why ethernet?

For those who simply cannot afford to be offline.

- 99.999% uptime supporting by an industry-leading SLA

- Transfer large amounts of data quickly and seamlessly
- Allows for enhanced high-quality voice, data, video, and cloud-based services
- Data stream and broadcast as required and without interruption
- Suitable as the backbone of any business. Ethernet in an HQ allows for extremely reliable extension of network infrastructure
- Dedicated nodes prioritise bandwidth

Product Portfolio

- ADSL (copper from the exchange to site) – the most cost-effective solution for low usage environments
- FTTC (fibre from exchange to street cabinet, then copper to site) – around 10x faster than ADSL
- FTTP (fibre from exchange to office) – around 40x faster than ADSL. Now being rapidly rolled out across the UK
- EoFTTC (ethernet over FTTC infrastructure) – provide high-speed internet connections with service and bandwidth guarantees
- Leased lines – connect two or more locations with dedicated bandwidth for ultimate reliability
