

SECRET SANTA

& COVID-19

Call 0844 561 8133 and quote your association number to access free, specialist advice today.

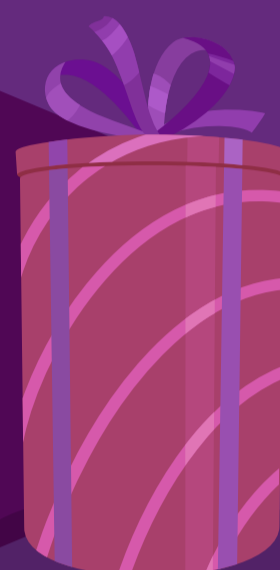

01 You need to make sure presents are quarantined correctly

How long does this need to be done for, and what is the best way of enforcing this?

02 You must adhere to the latest health & safety guidance

What are the key areas to consider, and what does the latest guidance mean for workplace activities?

03 You need to consider people working from home

How can you involve them without risk? Will you allow presents to be posted to personal addresses? And with this in mind...

04 You have to be mindful of data protection risks

You could be indirectly liable for a breach - how can you avoid this?

05 You should keep furloughed staff in mind

Do you invite staff on furlough, or does this go against any government guidance?

Employers must explore all avenues before making a decision on how to allow Secret Santa - if at all.

Your dedicated member advice line can provide instant answers to all of the above questions, and is free to access as part of your association membership.
